

Innovair Solutions Acquires TRM Heating Cables

Lévis, Québec, September 17, 2026 – Innovair Solutions, a Canadian leader in heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) solutions, today announced the acquisition of TRM Heating Cables, a Toronto-based Canadian company specializing in heating cables for commercial and industrial applications.

Founded in 2001, TRM has built strong technical expertise in the sale and installation of specialized products, including self-regulating cables, mineral-insulated cables and electric floor heating systems. The company serves electrical contractors, distributors, developers and property managers.

The acquisition supports Innovair Solutions' growth strategy and expands its presence in a sector closely aligned with its existing operations. It also reinforces the company's footprint in the Greater Toronto Area, where Innovair Solutions already operates its Delta-Therm warehouse.

"TRM's expertise complements our portfolio and strengthens our ability to support commercial and industrial customers with reliable, specialized solutions," said Louis Beaulieu, Chief Executive Officer of Innovair Solutions.

TRM's 17 employees will join the Innovair Solutions team. Jeff Cade, the company's owner and founder, will remain involved to support a smooth transition and ensure business continuity.

About Innovair Solutions

Innovair Solutions is a Canadian leader in the design, manufacturing and distribution of heating, ventilation and air conditioning solutions across North America. The company brings together 18 complementary brands driven by a shared ambition: to redefine North American standards through sustainable innovation, local manufacturing and operational excellence.

With nearly 1,300 employees, 17 operating sites in Canada, the United States, Mexico and China, and nearly 60 years of expertise, Innovair Solutions is a collective force focused on the future.

About TRM Heating Cables

TRM Heating Cables is a Canadian company founded in 2001 and based in Toronto. With a team of 17 employees, the company specializes in the sale and installation of heating cables and related products for commercial and industrial applications. Its product offering includes mineral-insulated cables, self-regulating cables and electric floor heating systems.

-30-

FOR MORE INFORMATION

Innovair Solutions

Frédérique Auclair

Corporate Communications Manager

Tel.: 581 309-3129

Email: frederique.auclair@innovairsolutions.com